"SHOP NOW, MAIL EARLY," ADVICE OF POSTOFFICE

Postal Employees Will Make Every Effort to Care for Mails

DESIROUS OF NO DELAYS

Instructions Listed in Order
That Service Might Be Expedited

"Shop Now and Mail Early," is the slogan of the U. S. Post Office Department. Post offices will make every effort to handle the Christmas mails without congestion and delay, but the public must co-operate by mailing early.

Today, Clarence G. Young, postmaster at Bristol, made public a long list of instructions so as to expedite the early mailing of Christmas parcels, letters and cards.

All parcels must be securely wrapped or packed. Use strong paper and heavy twine.

Umbrellas, canes, golf sticks, should be reinforced their full length by strong strips of wood tightly wrapped and tied or otherwise sufficiently wrapped to withstand transportation.

Hats: Pack in strong corrugated or fibre boxes. Ordinary pasteboard hat-boxes must be crated. Ladies' hats and stiff hats easily damaged should be marked "fragile."

Shoes: Pack in strong boxes, preferably corrugated cardboard. Wrap with strong paper securely tied with heavy twine.

Cut flowers: Place in strong suitable boxes of wood, tin, or heavy corrugated cardboard. Wrap with tissue to retain moisture.

Candies: Inclose in strong outside boxes or containers.

Drawings, paintings, unmounted maps, etc.: Pack or wrap in strong material to avoid damage. When not flat, roll around a wooden core and then wrap and tie carefully or place in strong pasteboard tube.

Sharp-pointed or sharp-edged instruments or tools must have points and edges fully guarded to prevent injury to clerks in handling or damage to other mail. Crate suitably or thoroughly wrap so that they can not cut through the wrapping.

Articles easily broken or crushed must be crated or securely wrapped. Use liberal quantities of excelsior, or like material, in, around, and between the articles and the outside container.

Glassware, fragile toys, crockery must be packed so as to prevent the escape of particles or pieces if broken in transit.

Cigars: Ordinary boxes of cigars wrapped in paper only will not be accepted. Pack in a manner to prevent damage by shock or jar. Wrap in corrugated pasteboard or similar material.

All articles easily broken or damaged must be plainly marked "fragile." Articles likely to spoil within the time reasonably required for transportation and delivery will not be accepted for mailing. Wrap or pack carefully, according to contents, and plainly mark all such parcels "perishable." Use special-delivery stamps to expedite delivery.

Addresses should be complete, with house number and name of street, post-office box or rural-route number, and typed or plainly written in ink. A return card should be placed in the upper left corner of every piece of mail. If a tag is used, the address and return card should also be written in the wrapper for use if tag is lost, and a copy of the address should be inclosed inside the parcel.

Postage must be fully prepaid on all mail. Affix the required amount of

PLANE TALK

By HARRY A. SUTTON
Of the Technical Staff,
The Aviation Corporation
(Written Expressly for International News Service)

22. Cross-Wind Landings and Take-Offs

Perhaps the field selected by the pilot for his forced landing lies lengthwise across wind and is of too little breadth to permit descent into the wind.

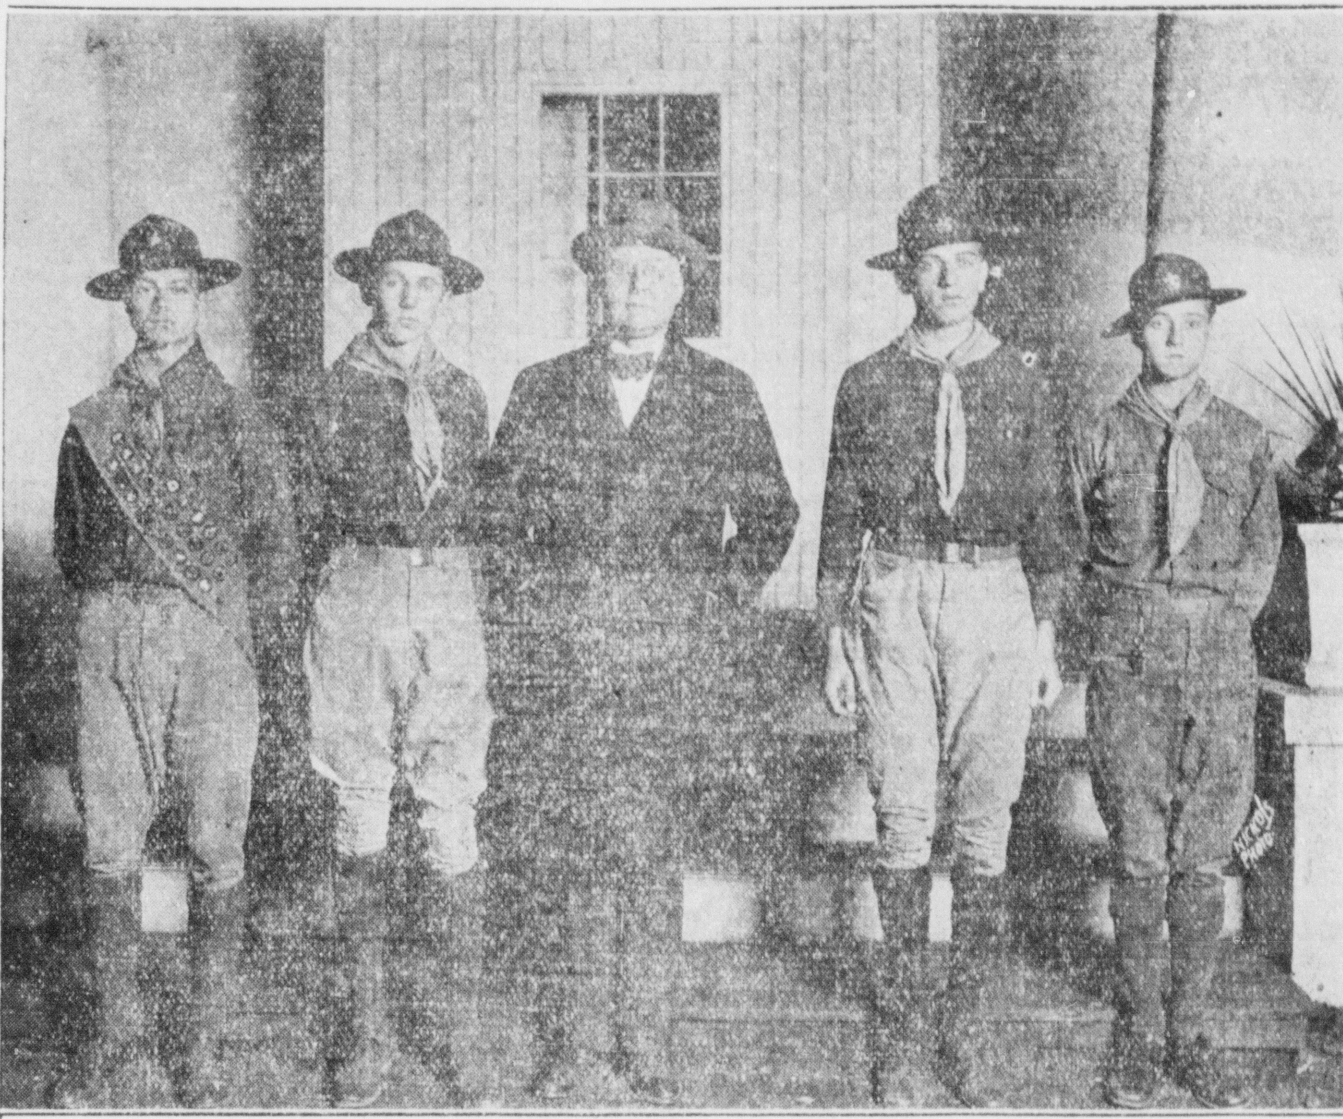

A cross-wind landing hence becomes advisable. By banking into the wind the pilot may offset the effect of the wind which otherwise would cause the airplane to drift. Such landings require expert piloting and should not be attempted by the novice.

Should the motor trouble prove of minor character, emergency repairs may be made and the flight resumed. Here again the pilot had best choose the length of the field, ascending cross-wind. Cross-wind take-offs require careful use of the controls to prevent drifting or turning.

Cross-wind landings and take-offs are emergency measures only and should only be resorted to when absolutely necessary.

(Tomorrow's article of Plane Talk will discuss parachuting.)

FISHER PROMISES AID TO HOOVER'S PROGRAM

State Executive Pledges Judicious Distribution of Huge Highway Bldg. Fund

DATA NOW BEING MADE

HARRISBURG, Nov. 25.—(INS)—Among the gubernatorial replies to President Hoover's message of Saturday pouring into Washington today was that of Governor John S. Fisher in which the Pennsylvania state executive pledges the performance of "all in my power" to aid in carrying into effect the President's plans for business expansion and labor aid during the Hoover administration.

President Hoover sent telegrams to Governors of all the states on Saturday afternoon, calling for cooperation on their part with the Federal government in road, street, public building and other construction falling within their jurisdiction, so far as this could be prudently carried out.

In reply, Governor Fisher pledged judicious distribution throughout the State of the $155,000,000 made available for highway and public building construction by the last legislature. The Governor also declared his intention of ascertaining the plans of local authorities for public improvements. The Governor's reply follows:

"I hasten to assure you that I shall do all in my power to carry into effect your comprehensive plans for the support of the business situation of the country and the relief of unemployed labor.

"The appropriations at the recent session of the Legislature make possible in Pennsylvania a construction program for highways and public buildings of about $155,000,000. This will be judiciously distributed throughout the State, keeping in view labor conditions.

"I shall take immediate steps to ascertain from local authorities the extent of their plans for public improvements and shall urge full cooperation with the Federal government under your leadership. Details will be forwarded as requested as rapidly as they become available.

"I shall be most happy to work in full harmony with Secretary Lamont in furthering your great purpose to insure nation-wide prosperity."

The most ambitious capital building program in Pennsylvania history is now under way here. Steel skeletons are rapidly taking shape on the new education building, the new north office building has just been completed and work is in progress on the soldiers and sailors memorial bridge over the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks. Excavation work has been started for the farm show building, the contract for which was let only recently.

The sum of $10,000,000 was appropriated by the last legislature for new construction at institutions under the jurisdiction of the State Welfare Department. New construction at State College will involve a total of $2,500,000 and $1,000,000 is ready for State armories.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Most, of Merchantville, will spend Thanksgiving and the week-end with Mr. Most's sister, Mrs. Minnie Bevan, of 129 Dorrance street.

Mr. and Mrs. James Connors and children, of Florence, were recent visitors of Mrs. Connors' mother, Mrs. Mary Hess, of Bath street.

EX-SOLDIERS' FAMILIES AIDED BY RED CROSS

Southeastern Chapter Assisted 656 Families of Former Service Men Living in This Area

JOIN NOW IS THE SLOGAN

Through the efforts of the Southeastern Pennsylvania Chapter of the American Red Cross, 656 families of former service men living in Philadelphia, and the adjoining counties of Bucks, Delaware, Montgomery and Chester have benefited during the first 9 months of 1929, to the extent of nearly a quarter of a million dollars.

This was made possible through the Home Service Department which secured evidence to support the men's claims for compensation and insurance under the existing laws. The total amount secured for the men and their families is composed of the following items: $147,373.70 compensation paid to veterans and their dependents for disability incurred in service; $29,040.39 paid for claims for adjusted compensation; $67,159.55 for insurance money.

In the past nine months the Home Service Department has handled the cases of 5,008 disabled men and their families, and has, in addition, rendered special service of a wide variety of character to 599 men in the standing Army and Navy. This organization is pledged to do by the terms of its charter which designate the Red Cross as "a medium of communication between the people of the United States and their Army and Navy."

Much of this latter service is telegraphic, messages being received by the Red Cross almost daily from commanding officers and field officers asking information about the families of men in service which requires an investigation.

And although eleven years have elapsed since the Armistice, the Home Service workers of the Chapter are still extending daily care to hundreds of disabled men and their dependents. Many are in financial need while awaiting assistance; wives and children require medical care or suitable employment; the mentally ill may need assistance in having guardians appointed.

The passage of time makes claims more difficult to prove, especially as one disease may be the outgrowth of another. And even though the number of individual cases has diminished, the increasing difficulties in gathering evidence to establish the origin of disabilities—the visiting of doctors, employers, comrades in different parts of the country—has redoubled the Red Cross effort.

It is the rapidly diminishing reserve fund of the national Red Cross which at the present rate of expenditure will be exhausted in 3 years, thus jeopardizing the present program for ex-service men, of which 25,000 are now in government hospitals.

"Unless this depletion is checked by an increased membership the American Red Cross faces an emergency," wrote Colonel J. McFadden in a letter issued today to the chairmen of the fifty-two Red Cross branches in the counties of Bucks, Delaware, Montgomery and Chester. These together with Philadelphia, constitute the Southeastern Pennsylvania Chapter of which Colonel McFadden is chairman. (Continued on Page Four)

BRISTOL TOWNSHIP PLANS NEW GRADE SCHOOL BLD'G

Bids Are Requested for The Construction and Mechanical Equipment

WILL START WORK SOON

Bids are being requested for the construction and mechanical equipment of a new grade school building for Bristol Township. The bids will be opened and contract awarded on December 12th, at the Croydon school building.

Plans call for a four-class room building and in addition thereto there will be rooms for teachers and an office for the principal of the building. The new building is to be located on the Newportville Road near the Community Church just recently erected.

Present plans call for a building of Colonial design with an alternate set of plans. The type to be selected will depend somewhat upon the cost.

The building will measure 140 feet by 35 feet and will be one-story. It will be of either brick or stucco construction and so built that it may be easily enlarged to 12 rooms.

Heacock and Hokanson, Philadelphia, are the architects, and it is planned to start work as soon after the bids are received and contract awarded, as is possible.

The borrowing capacity of Bristol Township, permits the School Board to borrow a sufficient amount of money for the new structure, without putting it up to the voters at an election. This will expedite the work and it is believed that it will be but a short time before the congestion in the grade schools in the district will be relieved by the completion of the new building.

At a dinner meeting Friday night in the Red Lion Hotel, Quakertown, prominent citizens representing Quakertown, Perkasie, Sellersville, Trumbauersville, Dublin, Chalfont and Doylestown discussed the county wide Boy Scout Campaign for $53,000 to improve the camp and to maintain an expanded program of troop activities for two years.

Among those who were present were Charles M. Meredith, Howard Kooker, Jr., Chester A. Foulke, Walter T. Tice, and Charles M. Meredith, Jr., of Quakertown; Rev. John B. Schwartz, Trumbauersville; Mark Thatcher, F. D. Heyder and H. I. Moyer, Perkasie; F. P. Kemmerer and Irvin Hartman, Sellersville; Thomas Ross, Frederick D. Clymer and A. S. Kriebel, Doylestown; Lloyd Crounhaugh, Dublin; Russell M. Hartzel, Peter Helberg and Wynns James, Jr., Chalfont.

Thomas B. Stockham, president of the Bucks County Council, Boy Scouts of America, and Mayor of Morrisville, explained the purpose of the campaign and enlarged on the benefits of the closer relationships between the various troops in the county which the Council is making available. Mr. Stockham, assisted by William Livermore, Jr., Scout Executive, assured the men present that the county wide movement in scouting was in no way intended to interfere with the programs being made by the local troops in the North Penn area. He stated that it was rather designed to supplement, augment and extend the good work now being done by Scoutmasters Chester A. Foulke, Lawrence A. Delancey, Frank Fossbender, Clifford K. Doremus, Irvin R. Hagan, Arthur W. Osborn and their troop committees.

Mr. Stockham assured the group that there would be no conflict between the Quakertown Scout Camp and the county camp on the Raritan River. He recommended the extensive use of both, emphasizing the training values associated with the large camp under expert supervision and leadership. Asked if it were the intention of the County Council to seek to obtain ownership of the local camp, he said, in behalf of the Executive Board of the Council, that he recommended the present status as to ownership of the camp, and advocated as extensive use of the camp as possible for recreational purposes. He said it belongs to Quakertown people and will remain under their control.

Thomas Ross, in a plea for an efficient and unified county organization, recited the various benefits resulting from inter-troop contests and other relationships. He stated that full representation from the northern area of the county would be sought on the county council.

Charles M. Meredith endorsed the remarks of the other speakers and explained the advantages of county camp on the Raritan River known as Camp Buccoo. He showed that a camp in

B. H. S. PLAYERS EASILY WIN FROM MORRISVILLE

Ball in Possession of Bristol Most of The Time On Opposition Ground

FINAL SCORE IS 6 TO 0

Bristol High easily won from the Morrisville team 6-0 in a game played at Morrisville, Saturday afternoon. The local team was in good condition and showed their power over Morrisville players by outplaying them and defeating them. Morrisville's main threat was out in the first few minutes of the game.

Bristol almost always had the ball in their possession, and it was always in Morrisville's territory. Morrisville was lucky enough to make two first downs but they did not keep up the winning spirit long enough to score any points. In fact Bristol's line was holding too strongly to allow the offense.

SAMUEL STILWELL DIES AT HOME IN DOYLESTOWN

Assistant District Attorney of Bucks County Ill Over A Year

FORMER ARTILLERYMAN

Was Leader in Civic Work in His Community; Member of County Bar

DOYLESTOWN, Nov. 25.—Stricken with a universally fatal disease over a year ago, during which period he has undergone several operations and professional treatment from the best that medical science offers, Samuel Stilwell, Assistant District Attorney of Bucks County, died at his home here early today.

Samuel B. Stilwell, Assistant District Attorney of Bucks county, prominent member of the Bucks county bar, and socially prominent here, was a former captain in the 108th Field Artillery during the World War and served overseas with that unit.

He was appointed Assistant District Attorney of Bucks county last April and because of his impaired health since that time, had very little opportunity to serve his county.

Mr. Stilwell was secretary of the Doylestown Board of Health and was a leader in civic work in the community. He was one of the best known members of the Bucks County Bar, although one of its youngest members. He practiced law with Judge Hiram H. Keller before his recent appointment to the bench.

Mr. Stilwell in business life was a partner in the John P. Stilwell Company, Inc., manufacturers of ornamental marble, a business started by his late father many years ago.

Born in Doylestown, Mr. Stilwell lived here all his life. He was stricken about a year ago with a universally fatal disease. During the past year he underwent several major operations and blood transfusions in an effort to improve his condition. A number of war veterans offered their blood in an effort to save his life.

Mr. Stilwell graduated from Doylestown High and from Lafayette College, Easton. He was a member of the Masonic fraternity, past president of the Kiwanis Club, of Doylestown, and a past commander of the A. R. Atkinson Post of the American Legion.

The survivors include the widow, Mrs. Marjorie Barbiere Stilwell, and two small children, Jaquelin and John, his mother, Mrs. John P. Stilwell, and a sister, Susanna Stilwell, of Doylestown.

CENSORSHIP

Time and again it has been proven that the most effective advertising for the theater and literature is censorship or threatened censorship. Arrest the producer of a show with a reputation for daring and you sell out his box office for weeks in advance. Censor a book and you keep the publisher's press busy producing new editions. Several shows of the current New York theatrical season are being prosecuted by the censoring element and all are playing to standing-room-only houses. Since the war several novels were blacklisted by church organizations, but all were soon counted among the ten best sellers. If nothing more, this proves that any aye and nay vote on the question of censorship would find some nays among the electorate.

The police have long exercised the censorship of the theater in a majority of the cities and towns of the nation so little has been heard in the state legislatures of drama censorship. On the other hand, there has been little censorship of books—perhaps the volunteers in the corporal's guard of censors are ignorant of the contents of the books—but the bill providing for the censoring of books is as much a fixture of the average state legislature as the speaker and sergeant-at-arms. Once upon a time these perennial bills were granted the honor of being defeated by the house. Now they die in committee.

There may be books which people should not read, but most people desire to decide for themselves whether they shall read them. It is plain that those who would purge or prohibit a book have already read it. But the book that deserves suppression, if any do, is rare. The proportion among modern publications is small compared with that at all times in the past, except, perhaps, in those brief periods when pious zealots succeeded in suppressing all printing and enslaving speech and thought.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

ITEMS OF INTEREST AS CLIPPED FROM NEWSPAPER FILES

During the hunting season of 1879 it was stated in the columns of the Daylestown Intelligencer of November 15th, that year, farmers of Bucks to a large extent objected to hunters trespassing over their properties. In several instances arrests were made, the majority being in the vicinity of Quakertown.

Gleaned from the columns of the same issue were the following: Residents of Quakertown a half century ago were well pleased with the work of the supervisor of streets, Tobias Mitman, who in a large degree was responsible for their excellent condition. Mr. Mitman took particular pains to have the streets of the borough placed in good condition before winter made its appearance.

Sixty-five members of the North Wales Lodge of Odd Fellows were the guests of the Aqueduct Lodge, I. O. O. F., Doylestown. The visitors were given a dinner at Heist's hotel. About 130 persons enjoyed the festivities. The trip to Doylestown was made in a special train.

One of the Philadelphia publications fifty years ago contained the information that while John Clayton, Bucks county, was in New York City, he had his pocket picked of $1.12.

One of the topics considered at a meeting of the Solebury Farmers' Club fifty years ago, was that of a creamery. Among those taking part in the discussion were Oliver Balderston, John S. Williams, Moses Eastburn and Jesse B. Fell. No definite action was taken, it having been decided to take up the matter at some future meeting.

Col. W. W. H. Davis, Doylestown, was scheduled to present before a meeting of the Pennsylvania Historical Society in Philadelphia, a paper descriptive of General Washington's occupation of the west bank of the Delaware river in 1776. It was also announced that at this gathering Col. Davis would present in behalf of the owners two doors taken from the Keith house in Upper Merion township. This house served as General Washington's headquarters while he was in this part of the country.

Theodore Balderston, son of David Balderston, who lived near New Hope, was held up by two strangers while driving between Stockton and Lansburgville 50 years ago. One of the two grabbed the reins of the horses, and the second demanded Mr. Balderston's money. Mr. Balderston lashed his horse, but the one holding the animal's head held on so securely the driver

"Mother says there is no better cough medicine for children than Foley's Honey and Tar, and we too find it so," Mrs. N. W. Collins writes. Quickly effective. No opiates, no ingredient that a careful mother would hesitate to give her child. Ask for Foley's. For sale at Hoffman's Cut Rate Store. (Adv.)

could not escape. In the end Mr. Balderston parted with his money.

In the same issue it was reported: During the first seven days of November, 1879, Postmaster Miller kept an accurate account of the number of pieces of mail which passed through the office and found that the number of first class pieces totaled 2,297. Of this number there were 489 postal cards. The second class pieces numbered 11,447, while third and fourth class totaled 438.

Officers elected at the meeting of the Bucks County Temperance Alliance at Yardleyville were as follows: president, John Haines, Fallsington; vice-presidents, Jonathan Smith, Buckingham, and Rev. A. E. Ramsey, Newtown; secretary, Elizabeth Lloyd, Buckingham; treasurer, Stephen B. Twining, Yardleyville; Executive committee, Sarah H. Pierce, William Lloyd, Thomas C. Knowles, Lydia H. Mason, Hannah E. Holcomb, Lydia H. Harvey and Charles Harrison.

Marriages recorded a half century ago were as follows:

Wilmer C. Allen and Miss Kate Rutherford, both of Warwick.

George W. Flyer and Miss Mary Ellen Eisenberger, both of Thicum.

Jacob Haneser and Miss Katie Stuart, both of Montgomery.

John C. Leachman, Plumsteadville, and Miss M. Jennie Michener, Point Pleasant.

Thomas E. Paxson and Miss Estelle Reading, both of Hatorbo.

Lewis H. Ross, Warwick township, and Miss Violetta H. Werner, Buckingham.

Parmanas D. Simon and Miss Savannah F. Kille, both of Hiltown.

Frederick Schancke, Plumstead, and Miss Martha L. Hagen, Carversville.

"IS EVERYBODY HAPPY?"

By ELEANORE CAREY

This novel is based on the Warner Bros. & Vitaphone production starring Ted Lewis

SYNOPSIS
 Victor Molnar, director of the Budapest Symphony Orchestra, comes to New York with his wife and young son, Ted, and his cherished violin presented to him at a command performance of Emperor Franz Josef himself, in the hope that the son may make a career of himself as a great violinist. Arrived in New York, their resources compel them to take a modest flat in Third Avenue, in the midst of all the noise of elevated railway and street vendors. Ted loves his parents at once to seek at Lena, his sweetheart, who was dancing in a theatre.

INSTALLMENT III
 "Yes, you run along, Ted. Give me my love, please, and tell her we must come over as soon as I get this place fixed," and his mother tried to assure him with a smile.

"I will, mother, and I won't be long. She is working for the great impresario, Ziegfeld, and anyone can tell me where his place is. By the time you are settled here for the night I will be back!" And he ran eagerly to make his presence known to the sweetheart he had known in Budapest.

Darkness had descended on the big city as Ted reached the stage entrance of the Ziegfeld Theatre.

He found he was back stage—girls prancing by in scanty clothing.

Walking eagerly to the doorman, he was busy sorting letters, he did, "I beg your pardon, but—" "We don't want any!" was the curt remark.

"So I can't tell you anything?" And the doorman did not seem to care.

Annoyed at the delay, he called to the man loudly, "Please, I would very much like to see a girl—an old friend of mine from Budapest. We grew up together."

"So did the Siamese twins," and the doorman glanced with contempt at the man beside him—with his strange accent and peculiar clothes.

Ted was getting seriously frightened. What if the doorman really refused to let him see her—what could he do? And he was so anxious to see Lena! Had he done anything to offend the doorman? Ted was at a loss to explain why the man treated him so curiously.

Looking on the pictures on the wall Ted saw a beautiful body dressed in French-heeled slippers, a string of pearls around her neck, and part of a shawl advantageously placed upon her person. He was about to scan the next picture when some familiar feature caught his eye.

"That's Lena Schmidt! That's the girl I want to see!" "Why, that's not Lena Schmidt. That's Miss Lily DeVere," and seeing Ted's protestation he continued, "She might be Lena to you, but she's Lily DeVere here—and you can't go in!" And he resumed sorting his mail.

Ready to give up, he stepped aside just as two men with a bass viol bumped into him and shoved him into the backstage of the theatre. Ted was completely confused. He looked about—gathered himself together and found he was back-stage in a theatre. He felt at home there. Girls prancing by in scanty clothing—hurrying by—jolting each other, and with quick, "I beg your pardons!" they each went on their various ways.

From the wings of the theatre where he found himself, he could see the stage. Lena, the feature dancer, was doing what is billed as a hot jazz dance. Ted looked on thrilled but was concerned a bit by the lack of clothes she had on. Her dancing began—and for the first time in his life, Ted witnessed a jazz dance. Squirming, gliding, and wiggling her body and her feet

A goodly profit was realized at the souper kraut supper and bazaar conducted at Grace Episcopal Church on Friday evening. Many fancy articles were on sale as well as Chinese pieces, jellies and preserves, etc.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 25—(INS)— The history of early churches in Pennsylvania is to be carefully studied in preparation for a debate on the question of which of two claimant churches is the oldest house of worship west of the Allegheny mountains.

Rev. Martin Luther Peter, pastor of the St. John's Lutheran church of Germantown Township, Fayette County, has challenged the claim of the Zion Lutheran Church in Westmoreland County that it is the oldest congregation west of the Alleghenies.

Rev. Peter has offered to debate his contention but an opponent has not yet been found.

Upper Bucks County Folks Discuss Boy Scout Campaign

the county is too close to many of the boys, that it tends to produce sectional jealousy, that the discipline can not be made as effective, and that boys are more interested in going a little further away from home.

William Livermore, Jr., Scout Executive, pointed out that hundreds of boys of Scout age in this territory were unable to have the advantage of the Scout program because of lack of adequate organizing and supervising staff. He promised two full time assistant executives for the southern half and northern half of the county, after the completion of the present campaign, with headquarters at Bristol and Quakertown. He predicted a large increase in the number of troops and Scouts when this plan is in effect.

Mr. Meredith emphasized the point that of the $53,000 sought in the county, only $6,200 is asked from Quakertown, Perkasie, Sellersville, Trumbauersville, Richlandtown and vicinity. He said: "This seems extremely fair to me. It looks as though we would get a lot for our money; it is good business. I believe that we can take advantage of this campaign to raise the small additional amount which we need to finish paying for our own camp."

In remarks made by J. D. Foster, the director of the campaign, it was stated that the county was accepting Scouting one hundred per cent because of the thorough program of publicity which is being carried out by Judge Hiram H. Keller and by Oscar O. Bean in public addresses and in the newspapers. He assured the workers, on behalf of the Council, that no professional campaigners were getting a percentage remuneration in this drive. He explained the purposes to which the money would be put.

Howard Rooker, Jr., in dwelling on the splendid record of Scouting locally, emphasized the necessity of a thorough understanding by the local Scout authorities of the proposed extension program. He stated that he felt, that when the situation is made clear to all concerned, satisfactory arrangements for close co-operation will be possible.

Mark Thatcher, chairman of the campaign in Area "D", spoke with conviction of the values inherent in the Scout program, and advocated its wide extension for the purpose of serving more boys. He announced the personnel of workers in his Area as follows:

Section 17, Quakertown, Charles M. Meredith, chairman, assisted by Howard Rooker, Jr., C. Norman Detweiler, Charles S. Ort, Charles H. Ort, William A. Dergstine, Jacob Sonabeck, William W. Muehlhauser, C. M. Meredith, Jr., Peter C. Romig, Arthur E. Flagler, A. W. Treffinger and Walter T. Tice. Section 18, Sellersville, Francis P. Kemmerer, chairman, with Alex. Miller and Mark Bittle assisting.

Section 15, Perkasie, Francis D. Heyder, chairman, assisted by H. I. Moyer, C. Harold Terry and Wilson L. Yeakel on advance gifts.

Section 14, Rev. John B. Schwartz, of Trumbauersville, chairman.

Section 13, Lloyd Cronhamel, of Dublin, chairman.

The next area meeting of the campaign will take place in Quakertown on Wednesday, December 4, when about 100 workers from all the towns in the Area will attend for the popular phase of the campaign, which is scheduled to close on December 16, with a county wide closing dinner in Doylestown.

Fifty-two contributions from various sections of the county were reported last night by Thomas B. Stockham, chairman of the Advance Gift Committee, totalling $5,206, as follows: Area "A", Carl Wenzel, chairman, $1,605; Area "B", Henry Palmer, chairman, $1,385; Area "C", Thomas Ross, chairman, $2,045; Area "D", Mark Thatcher, chairman, $171.

for New Telephone Construction in 1930

A YEAR AGO we estimated that in 1930 we would spend $34,000,000 for new telephone construction in Pennsylvania.

We have revised that figure—upward.

Our present plans call for an expenditure of $44,000,000 next year—an increase of $10,000,000.

The year 1930 will see the greatest telephone construction program in the history of the telephone business in this state.

Along with the increase for 1930, we are planning on similar increases for the following years.

For 1930 to 1934, inclusive, we will spend in Pennsylvania a total of $215,000,000 in new construction. This does not include the construction of "through lines" by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Nearly $50,000,000 greater than our estimates of a year ago.

These figures are ample evidence of our faith in our state and its prosperity.

Telephone service must do more than keep pace with business. It must be ready in advance to meet the needs of industrial and social life.

The fact that in 1930 we are spending $44,000,000 and in the next five years a total of $215,000,000 for new buildings, new central office equipment, new local telephone lines, new toll lines and countless other mechanisms required for a growing telephone service is based on our best judgment of what the future holds for our Commonwealth.

"The most service and the best" is our aim. This tremendous program is evidence of a growing communication system. Growth means more telephones in service—more places which you can reach from your telephone. It means an increasing value of your service.

Never was the telephone service better than it is today.

This program is evidence that tomorrow's telephone service must be of even higher quality—in speed, accuracy and efficiency!

LEONARD H. KINNARD, President.

ponents to break through. The aerial attack attempted by Bristol was more successful than usual. They completed three forward passes while Morrisville had two to their credit. Altogether Bristol received the credit for keeping the ball the most number of times, for completing forward passes, for plunging through the line, and for any other play connected with football.

The winning touchdown was made by "Bud" Tullo, Bristol's star end. Morrisville had the ball on their own ten yard line and were trying a kick formation play. The local team's ends heroically broke through Morrisville's line and succeeded to block the kick. The ball then touched one of the Bristol fellows and Tullo dived on it over the goal line. Bristol was in a position to score also near the end of the second quarter when Alta occupying one of the hardest positions on the team as center heaved those balls to the backs who in turn plunged the line and ran off tackle up to Morrisville's fifteen yard line when the whistle blew and the half was over.

Bristol High is now preparing to pair against Temple High for the last game of the season. Temple is a pretty hot team and an exciting and thrilling contest is anticipated. The game will begin at 10 o'clock.

Danger Signals

Early diagnosis is a most important factor in curing tuberculosis. Failure to discover the disease or admit its existence until too late means death or delayed and difficult recovery.

If danger signals appear, a competent physician should be consulted. Danger signals which may indicate or foretell possible development of active tuberculosis include:

Rapid loss of weight, persistent "all-in" feeling, loss of appetite, afternoon fever, persistent cough, hoarseness, rapid pulse, chills, indigestion, night sweats, spitting of blood.

A thorough physical examination once a year is a wise practice for everyone. Certainly the human machine deserves as much care as an automobile. It costs six times as much to cure tuberculosis as to prevent it. Frequently other conditions besides possible tuberculosis may be discovered and corrected.

The state and local tuberculosis organizations will participate in April, 1930, in a third nation-wide campaign for early diagnosis.

Cost of Sickness

The cost of care in tuberculosis is only part of the cost of preventable sickness. Seven days of illness each year is the average, or, to put it another way, 2 per cent of the population is sick at any one time, according to studies of 500,000 insured persons.

About 16 billion dollars a year is the estimated cost of sickness in the United States, according to a study by Homer Folks. For care alone, excluding possible future net earnings, the tax is $31.08 per person, or $134.68 per family each year. The cost, including future net earnings, is equivalent to $141.00 per capita, or $567.33 per family. Over 90 per cent of this loss is borne by patients and their families directly. On this basis the cost of sickness in Pennsylvania annually is close to one billion and a half dollars.

"The expenditures by the national organization for the past 7 years have exceeded by ten million dollars the revenue from all sources or an average of $1,447,000 yearly. The big field for possible membership in these five counties is obvious when it is realized that 93 out of every 100 persons in this chapter territory are not members of the Red Cross.

"The public waits and expects to be asked to join or rejoin. For local Red Cross work we need more than double the number of those who last year selected the memberships paying the dues in excess of the annual dollar a year.

"The President of the United States and also our own President has issued the following appeal:

"Both as President of the United States and as President of the American Red Cross, I earnestly bespeak the co-operation of every American citizen in the great humanitarian work of the Red Cross.

"Its prompt efficiency in time of disaster, and its continuing service in numerous less spectacular but no less important tasks of relief, make it an indispensable part of our national life.

"Every American should be a Red Cross member and I urge all to enroll."

The roll call opened Armistice Day and will continue until Thanksgiving. Its objective is to reach every man, woman and child in the five counties with the invitation to join the Red Cross.

During the holiday time the volume of mail increases approximately 200 per cent. It is a physical impossibility to handle this great mass of mail matter efficiently and promptly within a few days. Therefore to assure delivery of their Christmas presents, cards, and letters by Christmas Day, the public should shop and mail early. Do your Christmas shopping so that you can mail your gifts, greetings, and letters to relatives, friends, and loved ones at least a week or 10 days before Christmas, according to the distance. This will not only make it certain that they are received on or before Christmas Day, but will be a great aid to your postal service and to postal employees and enable them to spend Christmas Day with their families.

Patrons sending a quantity of Christmas cards, say 10 or more, should prepare and mail them two or three weeks in advance, as millions are mailed and they can not possibly be handled and delivered if mailed only two or three or four days before Christmas. To avoid this, patrons may mail their cards two or three weeks before Christmas, if delivered to the post office or postal station in person, or tied together in a bundle, labeled to show that they are Christmas cards, and deposited in a street letter or package box. They will then be segregated, stamped with the date on which to be delivered, and delivery effected one or two days before Christmas.

Christmas cards and gifts addressed to points within one day's travel should be mailed in no event later than December 20; within two days' travel, not later than December 18; within three days' travel, not later than December 16; for more distant points, not later than December 14. Parcels and cards for local delivery should be mailed not later than December 21. Parcels and envelopes may be indorsed, "Please do not open until Christmas."

The use of a special delivery stamp will assure delivery on Christmas Day, if mailed at the proper time. Special delivery service means the handling and transportation of parcels with the same expedition as first-class letter mail, as well as the immediate delivery at office of address. It is obtained by affixing a special delivery stamp of the proper denomination, or its equivalent in ordinary stamps, in addition to the regular postage. When ordinary stamps are used, the words, "special delivery" must be written or printed directly below, but not on the stamp. It is urged that all mailers desiring immediate delivery of any matter mailed by them affix special delivery stamps thereto. Special delivery is for speed and not for safety. Valuable mail should be registered or insured.

Uninsured parcels 8 ounces or less in weight may be mailed in street letter or package boxes at all classified stations and branches and at such numbered stations as are designated to receive parcels. Parcels weighing over 8 ounces can not be mailed in street boxes, but must be taken to the main post office or classified station or branch. Parcels containing meat, food products, cut flowers, or other perishable matter should be mailed only at the main post office or one of the large classified stations.

Written matter in the nature of personal correspondence can not be included in parcels.

Communications attached to parcels: A letter placed in an envelope, addressed to correspond with the address on the parcel and fully prepaid at the first-class rate, may be tied or otherwise securely attached to the outside of the parcel in such manner as to prevent separation therefrom and not obscure the address on the parcel.

All valuable domestic third and fourth class mail should be insured.

Insurance fees: Value not exceeding $5, 5 cents; not exceeding $25, 8 cents; not exceeding $50, 10 cents; not exceeding $100, 25 cents.

Coin, currency, jewelry, and articles of similar value should be sent as sealed first-class registered mail.

Domestic third and fourth class matter may be sent C. O. D. from one money-order post office to another. Sealed domestic mail of any class prepaid at first-class rate of postage may also be sent C. O. D. either as registered or unregistered mail.

Fees for all unregistered C. O. D. mail (in addition to regular postage): 12 cents, when amount to be collected does not exceed $10; 15 cents, when the amount does not exceed $50, and 25 cents, when the amount does not exceed $100. The C. O. D. fee also covers insurance for actual value against loss or damage up to $10 for a 12-cent fee; up to $50 for a 15-cent fee; and $100 for a 25-cent fee. Consult postmaster as to fees for registered C. O. D. mail.

Parcels of mailable merchandise may be sent (subject to certain limitations and conditions) by international parcel post to all foreign countries except Tristan Da Cunha. Foreign parcel-post packages should be mailed at the main office or large classified stations.

Owing to the long sea travel involved as a rule and to customs inspection abroad, foreign parcels should be very carefully packed and should be mailed in November.

Giving Mexican Pupils Their First Lesson

Pretty Elizabeth Morrow, daughter of the United States Ambassador to Mexico, who has been granted her request to teach Mexican children without salary. She is a sister-in-law of the famous "Good-Will Ambassador," Colonel Charles Lindbergh, whose mother has also devoted her life to teaching youth.
